

Looking to Resolve an Impasse in Divorce?

An upcoming public education program from The Divorce Center brings together a panel of professionals with what you need to know about

Alternate Dispute Resolution

Three presenters will introduce and explain the options offered for dispute resolution, which include collaborative law, mediation and arbitration. They will explain the differences and how essential information, especially financial information, is obtained.

Points to be discussed include:

- Discovery basics
- Financial disclosure
- Business evaluation
- Mediation and Arbitration
- Collaborative divorce

March 21, 2018, 7-8:30 p.m.

Wellesley Community Center
219 Washington St, Wellesley Mass.

Presenters: Attorneys Debbie Smith of Watertown, Paula Burg of Norwood, and Mediation Attorney, Lorri Woodacre of Wellesley

Only $10 to register

Register online
<http://bit.ly/Resolve-It>

Easing the trauma of divorce since 1983

Education ~ Resources ~ Networks

The Divorce Center is a 501 (c)(3) nonprofit Massachusetts organization