The Dog Lady at the South End Library

On Tuesday, May 31, at 6:30pm, Monica Collins, aka Dog Lady will read at the South End Library at 685 Tremont Street, Boston.

Ask Dog Lady by Monica Collins is one of the many unique columns that our distinguished neighborhood rag, the South End News, has launched since it first began publishing in the mid-1980s. There was the Area D4 Police Blotter, penned by its Poet Laureate,

Police Officer John Sacco, widely known for his usual tart conclusion that “the scoundrel was arrested on the spot.” Then we had food writer Lydia Walshin’s delectable series, called The South End Cooks, and

Paying Tribute to Thelma D. Burns

State Representative Byron Rushing, who represents the South End, speaks at the naming celebration of the ABCD Thelma D. Burns Building and Grand Opening of the ABCD Roxbury/North Dorchester Campus in Roxbury on May 20. Burns is a longtime educator and community activist who has served on the board of Action for Boston Community Development for more than 35 years. More than 400 people, including Mayor Marty Walsh, Congressman Michael Capuano and educator/activist Jonathan Kozol gathered to honor Burns and her legacy of activism and voluntarism.

Officers Recover Illegal Firearm, Arrest Two

At about 5:55 PM on Wednesday, May 18, 2016, members of the Youth Violence Strike Force effected an arrest for firearm related charges in the area of San Juan and West Brookline Streets.

While on patrol, officers observed a group of males known to police congregating near the playground at San Juan and West Newton Streets. Due to numerous recent firearm-related incidents in

2016 Summer Arts and Events Preview

BY MICHELE D. MANISCALCO

This year’s schedule of outdoor events in South End parks and open spaces offers a wider variety of arts, entertainment and exercise opportunities than in previous years, many of them sponsored by the Boston Parks and Recreation Department as well as through the generosity of local neighborhood associations, cultural institutions and business groups.

Ryan Woods, director of external affairs for the BPRD, noted, “We are trying to have more activities in more neighborhoods across the city.” Addressing the South End specifically, Woods observed, “We’ve gotten calls about negative

Pet of the Week

Hash Brown

Meet Hash Brown, a handsome 1-1/2 year old guy, who was found abandoned and now is ready for a new leash on life! He is very sweet and friendly but takes a little time to warm up to new people and would do best in a home with older kids or adults only. We would require him to meet any dogs in the home before he went home. Hash Brown could use a refresher in obedience classes offered at ARL at a discounted rate to adopters! He is neutered, microchipped and fully vaccinated.

For more information on Hash Brown, or any of the other animals currently residing at the Animal Rescue League of Boston, please contact us at 617.226.5602. The shelter is open Tues through Thurs 1-7pm & Fri through Sun 1-4pm, excluding some holidays.

good civic citizens while not picking up after their dogs, you have every reason to complain to your city councilor and, again, to Animal Control. Dogs are supposed to enhance the quality of life in a city — not detract from it.

Dear Dog Lady,
 Has anyone ever researched animal dreaming? I've seen what seemed like that phenomenon in my dogs. However, I now have a Maine Coon cat who, like most cats, spends much of his time sleeping. He has a very active time, twitching and flexing his forelegs for extended periods of time. What have you seen, if anything, of this sort of thing in your animals?

—Anita

Advice on Pets, Life, Love

BY MONICA COLLINS

Dear Dog Lady,
 As a dog lover and city resident, I'm curious to know your feelings about dog owners who claim they do good for the community while they don't seem to abide by local laws, or care about others in their neighborhoods as they completely ignore park laws and let their dogs run off-leash.

I go to two parks in my city neighborhood. There is signage about keeping your dog on leash but no one seems to care. I've talked about it with some of these dog owners, and they know they're breaking the law. They just don't seem to care. Of course they'll be the first at a community meeting to stand up and say: "We're a community!" Or, "We do a lot for the community!" Sure, as long as you're part of their community. Why don't the dog owners use the parks specifically designated as "dog parks" instead of using the green space everyone is supposed to share?

—Joe

Dear Joe,
 The issues of dogs off the leash are a universal vexation for many; in this regard, you are definitely not alone. From here, you only get so much sympathy. Dog Lady admits she has enjoyed some of her happiest times when her dog is unleashed.

Ask Dog Lady is a column to encourage responsible dog guardianship and behavior so that we all can co-exist peaceably. Irresponsible owners ruin it for everybody when their unleashed dogs jump on or chase people. Reckless owners stink it up for everybody when they leave their dog's waste on the ground. Dog Lady believes these mutt miscreants should be zapped with very steep — $500 to $1000 — fines. But ban all dogs completely from city parks? Not quite.

Your frustration is understandable but you don't explain why you are so enraged. Have you stepped in it? Has a dog bitten you? If so you should immediately contact the city's Animal Control office to report the criminal behavior. If you're ticked off because of dog owners' duplicity in declaring themselves

Dear Anita,
 Watching a cat or dog deep dream is one of the pleasures in life. Four paws twitch and flex. Whole furry body shakes. And the noise: "Yip, yip, yip. Grrrrr. Purrmmmm." You can only wonder about what it all means? Is your dog chasing a squirrel up a tree? Or is your cat conversing with a dog? Is they dreaming of things they know or of creature features we can't imagine?

Researchers at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology released a study showing laboratory rats dreamed about things in their experience (endless cage tumbling?). The neuroscientists reached their thesis because rats' brain waves while sleeping showed similar patterns to wakefulness.

Still, we cannot understand if pets' imaginings are variously scary, sultry or soothing. And what, if any, roles do two-legged people play in these dreams? Are we the mean food controllers who guard access to all kibble and canned fish? Or are we more angelic giants? We will never know. Dog Lady remains happy to imagine.

Dear Dog Lady,
 I have a female two-year-old toy poodle who cries in the car. As with a child, we put her in a carrier so to keep her safe as she is so small. She is walked and has the opportunity to "go" before being put in the car. We love to take her with us but the crying is becoming unbearable. How can we help her?

—Car Crazy

Dear Car Crazy,
 It's tough to fathom what noise emanates when a toy poodle "cries." Does your mini-poo wail and sob? Sniffle and whimper? If her reaction is so unbearable, don't take your dog in the car. Or give her something to keep her occupied while the car is moving — a favorite chewie, for instance. (Note: a bully stick is a great distraction for dogs). Maybe the misery is caused by the car carrier contraption. Since she's a tiny dog, a small crate will efficiently hold her in transit.

The Titus Sparrow Park Summer Concert Series returns on Wednesday, June 8 at 6:30 PM. Wear your comfy clothes and bring a chair and a picnic for outdoor dinner and a show! The popular series makes its season debut on Wednesday, June 1 with lively pop from Anchor, which is based at the Anchor Church on West Newton Street. All concerts start at 6:30 PM unless otherwise noted. For a full schedule, see www.titusparrowpark.org.

The Titus Sparrow Park Children's Concerts also resume on June 21, giving moms and kids an entertaining break on Tuesday mornings at 10:00 AM. The season begins on June 21 with African drummer Joh Baraka, a native of Mali.

Get fit and limber at free Yoga classes in Franklin Square every Tuesday night at 6:00 PM starting June 7 and running through August 30. The yoga series is brought to you by BPRD, the Boston Public Health Commission and Blue Cross/Blue Shield. Just wear your exercise togs and certified yoga instructor Nicole Ferraro will guide you.

Summer Soulstice rocks Blackstone Square on Friday, June 17 from 4:30-10:00 PM with live music from five local music acts, food from the Daddy's Bonetown Burgers, Heritage Catering, Jamaica Mi Hungry, FoMu Ice Cream trucks, and the return of the ever-popular beer garden on West Brookline Street presented by Lord Hobo Brewing Co. The Summer Soulstice is sponsored by the Massachusetts Cultural Council (MCC) and the Blackstone/Franklin Square Neighborhood Association (B/FNSNA).

The South End Garden Tour blossoms on Saturday, June 18 from 10:00 AM-4:00 PM, starting at the BCA Plaza on Tremont Street near Clarendon. Visit backyard and rooftop gardens, gardened alleys, community gardens and neighborhood and neighborhood parks around the neighborhood. Ticket prices are $24 for Trustees members, $30 for nonmembers and $28 for Trustees members and $35 for nonmembers on the day of the Tour. Alison Barnett's South End Character, the iconic reporting on the ebb and flow of the South End's culture of artists, immigrants, yuppies, washashores and, now, millionaires and billionaires.

The South End News began to publish Ask Dog Lady in 2002 as a humor/lifestyle column about dogs, life and love when Collins was a media columnist and TV critic for USA Today, TV Guide and the Boston Herald. It has since become widely distributed in media outlets all over the country. On Tuesday, May 31 at 6:30 PM, Collins will be at the South

Collins says on her web site that she changed her journalistic focus from TV critic to lifestyle columnist after she acquired a West Highland white terrier. She realized how

Honor Roll

Salve Regina University

Kailey Fitzgerald of Boston was awarded a master of business administration in Business Administration during Salve Regina University's 66th commencement on Sunday, May 15.

Salve Regina President Jane Gerety conferred 704 degrees in total, including 467 bachelor's degrees, 231 master's degrees and six doctoral degrees.

Salve Regina University is a Catholic, coeducational university founded in historic Newport, R.I. by the Sisters of Mercy. Accredited by the New England Association of Schools and Colleges, the university offers a comprehensive education with a liberal arts foundation that fosters the development of each student's individual talents. More than 2,700 undergraduate and graduate students are enrolled from across the U.S. and around the world. It is home to the Pell Center for International Relations and Public Policy a multidisciplinary research center focused at the intersection of politics, policies and ideas.

Lasell College

Lasell College in Newton, MA recently named Jessica Ngo of Boston, MA to the Lasell College Dean's List for the Spring 2016 semester.

Ngo, whose major is Hospitality Management, is a member of the class of 2017 and was among 760 students honored in the Spring 2016 semester.

To achieve the Dean's List, each student must be full-time carrying 12 or more graded credits for the semester with a grade point average of 3.5 or above.

An innovative educational institution for more than 160 years, Lasell is an independent coeducational college emphasizing the integration of professional and liberal arts programs leading to bachelor's and master's degrees. The campus is situated on a 53-acre campus eight miles from downtown Boston.

Northeastern University

Northeastern University is pleased to recognize those students who distinguish themselves academically during the course of the school year. The following local residents were recently named to the University's dean's list for the spring semester, which ended in May 2016.

Marissa Korn, a Northeastern University student majoring in Political Science/

Economics, and member of the University Honors Program.

Benjamin Briggs, a Northeastern University student majoring in Mechanical Engineering, and member of the University Honors Program.

Margaret Gardner, a Northeastern University student majoring in Psychology, and member of the University Honors Program.

Rebecca Govoni, a Northeastern University student majoring in Mechanical Engineering, and member of the University Honors Program.

Madison Myers, a Northeastern University student majoring in Chemical Engineering, and member of the University Honors Program/

Kevin Gozzi, a Northeastern University student majoring in Biology, and member of the University Honors Program.

To achieve the dean's list distinction, students must carry a full program of at least four courses, have a quality point average of 3.5 or greater out of a possible 4.0 and carry no single grade lower than a C- during the course of their college career. Each student receives a letter of commendation and congratulation from much a pet can transform relationships and shake up daily routines for the better; over the years, she has answered pet owners' most confounding questions involving relationships, dog park etiquette, divorce, custody complications, and whether the dog belongs in your marital (or single) bed. Collins produces and sells her own column and has written various profiles for USA Weekend magazine, including a cover piece on CNN's Anderson Cooper.

Collins has contributed her work to Vogue, Boston Magazine, Town & Country, and Forbes/Life and she has appeared on The Oprah Winfrey Show, Good Morning America, Nightline, The O'Reilly Factor, Inside Edition, and been a guest on NPR's All Things Considered. Collins also writes and coaches writers for non-profit organizations, and consults on media strategy. She lives in Belmont with her husband, a comedy writer, and is working on a book, of which she will read one chapter. She promises "it won't be boring."

The South End library is fully handicapped accessible. The event is free. Seating is limited. We serve refreshments.

This is the last talk of the 2015-16 season, which will resume in September. The previously announced June 24 speaker, best-selling author Jenna Blum, had to cancel due to a family emergency in California. She will return in the fall and her talk will be rescheduled for the fall/winter season. FOSEL regrets the difficulty and wish Jenna Blum the very best.

More news from Friends of The South End Library (FOSEL):

FOSEL has been lobbying BPL and City officials for a South End library five-phase renovation plan, that would, if approved, reconfigure the downstairs adult area in the next fiscal year, with subsequent and more dramatic changes the years after. FOSEL has offered to raise $25,000 of the estimated $100,000 first-phase cost, so you'll hear from us, soon. So far, the response has been positive but there will be no final decision until the end of June. In the meantime, the planned renovation study of Library Park may begin as soon as next fall. The 2016 South End Garden Tour will include Library Park on its schedule.

There will be four Summer Jazz Concerts with the fabulous Pat Loomis and His Friends, one scheduled in July and three in August. Details to come.

Concert Series, sponsored by the Worcester Square Area Neighborhood Association (WSANA), reprises its monthly concerts this summer in scenic Worcester Square. Dates, times and artist lineup were not available at press time, but updates on the concert series and other Worcester Square news can be found at WSANA's Facebook page at <https://www.facebook.com/WorcesterSquare/>

The Tito Puente Latin Music Series, brought to you by BPRD, Berklee College of Music and the IBA Arts program, returns on Thursday, July 7 with the first of three shows in O'Day Park at 85 West Newton Street. This year's schedule is marked by the return to Boston of Alex Alvear, singer and multi-instrumentalist extraordinaire and former IBA production and programming manager, who will perform with his band Mango Blue on July 14. This is a great opportunity to see Mango Blue, which normally appears at venues such as the Regattabar and Scullers, for free under the stars! The fun begins on Thursday, July 7 with the Afro-Caribbean rhythms of the Little Logic Band, returns the following week with Mango Blue and concludes on August 4 with Orquesta Homenaje.

Relax with some jazz on mid-summer Tuesday evenings at 6:30 PM the Summer Concert Series in Library Park, sponsored by the Friends of the South End Library and the Boston Public Library. Pat Loomis and Friends will perform in the park adjacent to the South end Branch Library. The series begins on Tuesday, July 12 and continues on Tuesday, Aug 2, 9 and 16.

Villa Victoria's Festival Betances livens up the heart of the neighborhood at Festival Betances, which runs July 15-17 at Plaza Betances, 100 West Dedham Street. The festival begins with a parade around the neighborhood beginning at approximately 6:00 PM dance, drill and baton groups, civic organizations and youth pageant winners joined by city officials and neighborhood leaders. The parade is followed by music in Plaza Betances, which continues during the day on Saturday and Sunday, July 16 and 17. The festival celebrates Puerto Rican and other Latin American music and dance genres with local, national and international acts. pals and headmasters play a tremendous role in building stronger schools, and I am confident that these leaders have the experience to serve our schools for many years to come."

"I am pleased that we were able to identify strong leaders," said School Committee Chair Michael O'Neill. "They recognize the values of our district, and will help us to reach our goals of supporting all of our children."

"The BPS community welcomes these new leaders," said Superintendent Tommy

Chang, Superintendent. "I am confident that they will thrive in their new positions, and with their experience, will build up our children and continue them on their pathway to success."

The new school leaders are as follows:

Emily Bozeman
Headmaster, Brighton High School

Bozeman was appointed Interim Headmaster of Brighton High School (BHS) for the 2015-2016 school year. Bozeman began her teaching career at BHS, teaching English to students with special needs for 9 years. Bozeman co-chaired Brighton's Steering Committee throughout the multi-year process of accreditation. Bozeman was awarded Boston's Educator of the Year Award in 2012 and joined the Lynch Leadership Academy's first ever Aspiring Principals cohort in 2013. Her commitment to the Brighton High School community inspired her appointment as Interim Headmaster, and she carries that same motivation into her permanent placement. Bozeman earned her Masters in Education from UMass Boston and currently resides in West Roxbury.

Carmen Davis

Principal, Irving Middle School

At Urban Science Academy, Davis served as a facilitator for Instructional Rounds, co-leader of the Instructional Leadership Team, and chair of the Mathematics Department. In June 2013, she was named a Boston Public Schools Educator of the Year. Previously, Davis served as the director of instruction of math and science for two years at the Lilla G.

the larger group, one making several hand movements to his waistband as if checking the security of a firearm. Officers exited their cruiser and walked over to speak with the two males. Due to their observations and their knowledge of the area and the subjects, officers performed a pat frisk for their safety. The officer felt what he knew to be a firearm in the waistband of one of the males and recovered an unloaded revolver without markings indicating its make or model.

Officers placed the 16-year-old juvenile from Hyde Park under arrest for Unlawful Possession of a Firearm, as well as an outstanding warrant out of Suffolk County Juvenile Court.

As the officers made the arrest, the second male became belligerent, yelling at the officers and making a scene causing a large crowd of onlookers to gather in the street. After being warned several times to cease this behavior, 25-year-old Mwase H. Potts of Boston was placed under arrest and charged with Disorderly Conduct.

BPD Cops Don't Shoot "Suicide By Cop" Suspect

At approximately 2:15 pm on Friday, May 20, 2016, an officer sitting inside of his department motor vehicle in the rear parking lot at District D-4 (South End) was approached by an individual who stated to the officer, "Can you do me a favor?" The officer responded that he could and then asked the individual what he could do for him. To which, the individual replied, "I want you to shoot me, kill me, I want to die."

At this time, the officer immediately radioed for assistance. While the suspect continued to repeat his demands for the officer to harm him, the officer quickly exited his cruiser and promptly noticed that the suspect had his hands concealed behind his back. Despite repeated commands to show his hands, the suspect refused. As other officers arrived on scene, the suspect charged at the officer, punching and attempting to tackle him. The suspect then grabbed for the officer's department-issued firearm and repeatedly tried to pull the weapon from its holster. Fortunately, the officer was able to pull away from the suspect and successfully fend off his attempt to take his weapon. While being placed into custody, the suspect continued to verbally disrespect and disparage the officers.

The suspect, Arthur Campbell, 35, of Boston was arrested and officers requested that EMS respond, at which point the suspect was transported to Boston Medical Center for an evaluation. The suspect will be charged with Assault and Battery on a Police Officer.

Boston Police Commissioner Evans stated, "An incident like this underscores the dangers my officers face every day. I can't praise their handling of this situation enough. Their response to an officer in trouble call was quick and decisive and the restraint shown to a suspect intent and hell-bent on harming

Frederick Pilot Middle School. Davis has continued to grow as a school leader in her role as the Lynch Principal Fellow at the Mozart Elementary. She also works as a part-time consultant to the Knowles Science Teaching Foundation, working with current teaching fellows from across the country to explore the concept of teacher leadership from various perspectives and contexts. Davis holds a Bachelor of Science in Mathematics from Hampton University and a Master of Education in Secondary Education, with a focus on urban education, from Boston College.

Monakatellia Ford
Principal, Winship Elementary School

Ford has served as interim principal of the F. Lyman Winship Elementary School for the past year. She began her teaching career at the Young Achievers Science and Mathematics Pilot School. Her desire to impact a greater number of children in Boston led her to the Dever-McCormack Middle School in Dorchester, where she served as assistant principal for two years. Ford is a proud graduate of Boston Public Schools' Another Course to College (ACC). She earned her Bachelor of Science degree in Elementary Education from Temple University, Master's Degree in Elementary Education from Cambridge

College, and Certificate of Advanced Graduate Studies in Educational Leadership from Simmons College. Ford resides in Dorchester.

Claudia Gutierrez
Principal, Mario Umana Academy

Gutierrez currently serves as interim principal at the Mario Umana Academy. She started as an administrator at Umana Academy in March 2014, managing the day-to-day operations of the school and facilitating best practices to advance achievement. Gutierrez works to improve instruction specifically for students with disabilities and English language learners, leading the implementation and expansion of Umana's dual language program. Gutierrez has worked for the Boston Public Schools for more than twenty years, beginning her career as a bilingual teacher at the McKay School. She has a Bachelor's degree in Business Administration from Northeastern University, a Master's degree in Education from Eastern Nazarene College, and a Doctorate in Educational Leadership from the University of Phoenix. Gutierrez resides in Hyde Park.

Elvis Henriquez
Principal, McCormack Middle School

Henriquez has worked as a principal fellow at the Warren/Prescott School this year and recently transitioned into the interim principal position at Community Academy. Henriquez began his teaching career at the English High School as a bilingual math teacher in 2000. He then transitioned to the Josiah Quincy Upper School where he continued to hone his skills as a math teacher at the middle and high school levels. After finishing his graduate studies at Boston College, he returned to English High School where he taught math for three years. Henriquez earned Bachelor's and Master's degrees in Education from Boston College. He resides in Dorchester.

Samantha Varano
Principal, Edison School

Varano currently serves as interim principal of the Edison, where she began her teaching career as a 6th-grade teacher. While continuing to teach, she became involved with the Boston Teacher Residency Program, serving as a mentor teacher and site director for three years. After seven years in the classroom, Varano transitioned to the role of assistant principal in 2009 when the Edison was named a K-8 Pathways school. She received a Bachelor's degree from Wheelock College and a Master's in Educational Administration from the University of Massachusetts Boston, and completed a year at Boston College in the Lynch Leadership Aspiring Principals Program.

Andrew Vega
Principal, Bates Elementary School

Vega currently serves as interim principal at the Phineas Bates Elementary School, where he also served as a principal fellow in 2014-2015. Vega began his teaching career in Los Angeles, his hometown, where he taught high school English. In 2010, he moved to Boston to join the team at Orchard Gardens K-8 Pilot School. While at Orchard Gardens, Vega taught 8th grade English as part of the team that elevated the school from Level 4 to Level 1 status. Vega received a Bachelor's degree in English from UCLA and a Masters in Secondary Education from Loyola Marymount University. He lives in Dorchester.

Geoffrey Walker
Headmaster, Fenway High School

Walker has been an education professional for more than 16 years, working as a teacher, program director, assistant principal, and principal. Walker worked in several Boston public schools as the program director of the America SCORES Boston soccer and writing program. Later, he taught at both the McKay School and English High School. He served as the academic director at Madison Park, assistant principal at the Timilty, Principal of the Rogers and, most recently, as principal of the Escola Americana in Rio de Janeiro in Brazil. Walker earned his Bachelor of Arts in Education from Brown University and his Master's degree in School Leadership from the Harvard Graduate School of Education as an Urban Education Scholar and Conant Fellow.

himself was nothing short of remarkable. In our nation's capital this week, police officers from all over the world are there to celebrate National Police Appreciation Week. Here in Boston, my officers once again remind me why it's important to celebrate and appreciate them every single day."

Officers Make Quick Arrest After Bank Robbery

At about 11:38 AM on Saturday May 21, 2016, officers assigned to District D-4 (South End) made an arrest after a bank robbery at 1320 Washington Street. Officers responded to the Commerce Bank where a male suspect, later identified as Jeremy Woodley, 35, of Boston, had passed a note indicating he was armed with a firearm. The suspect fled the bank with an undetermined amount of cash and was seen getting into the back seat of a motor vehicle which then drove off.

Officers located the car a few blocks away and were able to safely stop it and remove the suspect, placing him in custody without incident. As the officers were performing a pat frisk, they felt a bulge in the suspect's pocket, at which point the suspect informed them "I'm not carrying any weapons, that's just the money from the bank." The suspect also added, "The people in the car have nothing to do with this." The driver of the car and a passenger were interviewed by detectives and released when it was determined they had no knowledge of the suspect's actions. The suspect will be arraigned in Boston Municipal Court for Armed Bank Robbery.
