ABOUT DELAWARE PRIDE

Delaware Pride began in 1997, spawned from a conversation among four friends about the need for a more visible and cohesive LGBT Delaware community. The initially half-serious, overwhelming concept of an annual Delaware Pride festival quickly blossomed into reality through the community's generous support and the tireless involvement of numerous volunteers. The organization was officially formed on April 29, 1997. For several years, the annual festival was held in Wilmington's Rodney Square. Then, it relocated to Cape Henlopen State Park in Rehoboth, where it would remain for the next 10 years. Then in 2012 the event was moved to Blue Diamond Park in New Castle County in an attempt to have a rotating location for the festival. However as luck would have it in 2014 the Delaware Pride Festival found its new and permanent home at our states capital in Dover, DE directly in front of the state capitol building this allowed us to have a larger venue that was more easily accessible to all Delaware citizens and regional travelers and for the first time be able to offer it as a free event to attendees.

Since the first festival, which drew only a few hundred attendees and featured about a dozen vendors, it has grown exponentially and has received thousands of visitors, showcasing top-notch entertainers, vendors, and local LGBT organizations. 2019 saw another first for Delaware Pride as we held our first ever Pride Parade. With year round support from community volunteers and sponsors, thousands from near and far continue to gather annually to celebrate Delaware Pride, our community and our diversity. Volunteers run the Delaware Pride Festival and thousands of volunteer hours are dedicated to planning and hosting the various events.

Delaware Pride, Inc. is also a proud member of Interpride.org, an international association for organizations that produce pride events around the world. Its member organizations are dedicated to producing Pride events for the global Lesbian, Gay, Bisexual, Transgender, Intersex (LGBTI) community.
