

MA First Non-profit Pediatric Private Practice Set To Open

SUBMITTED BY
BOSTON COMMUNITY PEDIATRICS

BOSTON – Boston Community Pediatrics, the Commonwealth's first non-profit pediatric private practice is set to open this winter on Albany Street in Boston's South End neighborhood. Led by Dr. Robyn Riseberg, the group will welcome a diverse population of patients from all communities, including those with MassHealth and other insurance carriers. Now, patients and their families will have access to a variety of top-notch health and well-

ASK DOG LADY

Advice on Pets, Life, Love

BY MONICA COLLINS

Dear Dog Lady,

I was accosted by a busy-body on the street, an annoying "Karen" who felt I was abusing my dog because

I left it in my car while I ran into a shop to get something I needed. The busy-body kept repeating her complaint, never letting me get a word in defense or explanation. I felt more frustration than guilt.

I used to feel concern that someone might steal my "Baby." Ginger is a beautiful Chihuahua. Now, busy-bodies are what really concern me. I am afraid to take my dog for the ride she expects anytime I go on an errand. Big Brother is watching.

—Emmett

Dear Emmett,

Darned if you do; double darned if you don't. Little else Dog Lady can add to this observation except to assume always that somebody is watching—a busy-body or, geez, the National Security Agency.

Try to assume a more forgiving nature. Think before you leave your dog in the car alone—especially on hot days when the dog could suffocate. Sure, self-righteous busy-bodies who don't let you get a word in edgewise are very annoying but they do serve some purpose in making us aware of animals left behind

Dear Dog Lady,

We rescued a tiny little puppy from the Humane Society in the state where we used to live. Newton was a six-week-old male who was abandoned with his sister on the side of a busy street. He is now a 110 pound,

BPD Warns Residents of Increase in Law Enforcement Imposter Calls

SUBMITTED BY
BOSTON POLICE DEPARTMENT

The Boston Police Department continues to take reports from residents who appear to have been receiving calls from District station phone numbers. Over the past month, BPD Specialized Units, District E-5 (West Roxbury), and District E-18 (Hyde Park) have had their phone numbers "spoofed" by fraudsters impersonating law enforcement entities to include other state and local police departments such as FBI, ICE and US Marshals. Fraudsters are known to ask for non-traditional forms of money transfers such as gift cards, bitcoin and overnight mailing of cash. No legitimate financial transaction involving a government or law enforcement entity will ever use the methods of payment.

Residents who receive a call similar to the above scheme are advised to follow the below tips:

- DO NOT confirm or provide any personal information
- Hang up immediately
- Note the phone number of caller
- File online complaint at www.ftc.gov/complaint

Mayor's Pumpkin Carving Contest

SUBMITTED BY CITY OF BOSTON

The Boston Parks and Recreation Department has announced that it will be celebrating Halloween with Mayor Walsh's Pumpkin Carving Contest featuring a grand prize provided by Xfinity.

Mayor Martin J. Walsh and the Parks Department recognize the effort that Boston residents of all ages put into carving their jack-o'-lanterns and want to give everyone the chance to display their artistry. In keeping with current social distancing guidelines, the City of Boston is hosting an online pumpkin carving contest with photo submissions welcomed from October 14 until midnight on Halloween (11:59 p.m. on October 31). Complete rules and submission instructions are available at boston.gov/pumpkins.

ness services in one location with a primary point of contact to help them navigate today's complicated health system infrastructure.

The 2,400-square-foot office will be at 527 Albany Street, and offer multidisciplinary expertise in pediatric wellness, integrated behavioral health and care navigation, along with experienced pediatricians to manage a child's total wellbeing. Emphasis will be on patient-centered, relationship-driven care with a focus on preventative health, vaccinations, comprehensive, wraparound and personalized services to ensure patients can thrive.

Currently, patients on MassHealth and other public programs have less access to these integrative services and have often been required to act as their own case managers, sourcing services at a variety of locations and facing long waits to access care.

"In the almost 15 years that I have been practicing in this neighborhood, I have been focused on equity of care and making sure that patients and their whole families have access to the expertise they need, without restrictions due to their insurance," said Dr. Riseberg. "Through BCP, I can fulfill my dream to deliver this kind of personalized care which I believe will be transformative for many families."

Dr. Riseberg was most recently the head of pediatrics at the South End Community Health Center (SECHC) and the Medical Director of the school-based health center at the Blackstone Elementary School at the Hass Center in the South End, where she has been working for almost 15 years. Her primary interests have always been focused on underserved and high-risk pediatric patients and communities and bringing innovative programs to medicine. She transformed the Department of Pediatrics at SECHC to address the social determinants of health through the integration of a multidisciplinary team including case management, integrated behavioral health, and a pediatric wellness team.

Teen arrested on gun charges

After gunfire reported in the South End

COURTESY ADAM GAFFIN
WWW.UNIVERSALHUB.COM

Boston Police report officers responding to a report of gunfire on San Juan Street in Villa Victoria on Monday night, October 12. Police arrested a teenager nearby who they say had a loaded gun in his waistband.

Police say the officers responded to 10a San Juan St. around 7:15 p.m., after the BPD ShotSpotter system activated and signaled "multiple rounds" had been fired.

"Upon arrival, officers were alerted to two males who had begun walking away from San Juan Street towards the basketball courts near W. Newton Street. The officers approached the males, and instructed them to remove their hands from their pockets, upon which one of the males began reaching for his waistband multiple times. The officers conducted a pat frisk, and immediately felt a hard metal object and the butt end of a firearm in the front waistband area of the males pants. The firearm, a Smith and Wesson M&P .45, with an obliterated serial number, contained (2) .40 caliber rounds and (2) .45 caliber rounds in the magazine, was removed from the suspects waistband. As the officers were attempting to gain control of the suspects hands, a violent struggle ensued, resulting in the suspect breaking free and running away from the officers. Officers pursued the suspect, and with the assistance of other officers, the suspect was placed under arrest in the area of 685 Tremont Street."

The teen, too young to have his name publicly released, was charged with being delinquent for unlawful possession of a firearm, unlawful possession of ammunition, carrying a loaded firearm, possession of a firearm with an obliterated serial number and resisting arrest, police say.

Dog Lady

nine-month-old Lab/retriever/red bone coon hound mix according to the DNA test we got.

Newton is a happy dog, always smiling and always running. He gallops constantly. I cannot wear him out. He will fetch a ball for an hour. We also have a pet door so he can go outside and gallop at will

Recently he came running toward me and went right into my knee, hyper-extending my leg backward and rearranging my kneecap. I have been limping and in pain for two months. How do I wear him out? How do I get him to stop way before he hits me? He is so darn happy all the time. I hate to think what life would have been like for him is he had been adopted by an older couple.

—Janet

Dear Janet,

Sounds as if Newton's law rules in your home. Set some limits for your rangy, galloping pup. Get him a crate, keep him contained and learn about crate training. Newton probably has too much freedom and he doesn't quite know how to contain himself. Teach him. Newton and his sister were taken away from their birth mother much too soon. Puppies need eight weeks, optimally ten weeks, before they're mature enough to leave the natal nest. Newton is a wild child. Ask your veterinarian for a referral to a trainer or a behaviorist.

Working with a trainer, you must teach Newton the basics: Sit, Stay, Come. You do this by exerting your control, by keeping him in a crate and monitoring his behavior when he is free. Anyway, Newton is too young and too unschooled to run free constantly. You were very kind to adopt this guy. Now you need to seal the deal by taking responsibility for him. Dogs like rules. Newton needs to know who's in charge and what is expected of him.

the contest and you will be eligible for the chance to win one of three iPads provided by Xfinity. Winners will be selected from three categories: Most Creative; Scariest; and Boston Parks themed.

Need inspiration? We have downloadable stencils available for use as a guide to help you carve your pumpkin. Stencil images include the Parks Department logo, a death's head from a historic gravestone, George Washington, Mrs. Mallard, and a Boston Park Rangers silhouette. Visit boston.gov/pumpkins to download and print the stencils.

Share your work with us and we will publish our favorites on social media. Feel free to tag @Xfinity and @BostonParksDept on Facebook, Twitter, and Instagram. Hashtag your posts with #BosPumpkinDept and you may see your pumpkin.

After Halloween, be sure to compost your pumpkin. Keep an eye out for dates, times, and locations where you can "Feed the Monster," a pumpkin composting event hosted by the Parks Department working in partnership with the Boston Environment Department that will be featured in parks across the city. If you can't make it to "Feed the Monster", you can compost your pumpkin during the Leaf and Yard Waste pick up dates provided by the Department of Public Works.

HOMELESS SERVICES AND HOSPITAL CAPACITY
On April 2nd, Mayor Walsh announced that construction begins at the Boston Convention and Exhibition Center to add 500 beds for treating homeless adults who have tested positive for COVID-19 and need care, but do not require full hospitalization.

The City has released a Request for Proposals to secure a partner organization to operate the facility. If necessary, the Convention Center beds will be opened up for hospitals to use for sub-acute COVID patients in the general population.

These 500 beds will bring Boston's total number of new beds for homeless individuals to over 1,000. This includes Boston Medical Center's Newton Pavilion facility, which the City and State are working to re-purpose as a medical facility for homeless residents affected by the coronavirus.

SMALL BUSINESS SUPPORT

On April 2nd, Mayor Walsh announced two new resources that will help small businesses during the public health crisis.

The City of Boston has created a Small Business Relief Fund. Drawing on a combination of City, federal, and private industry contributions, it establishes $2 million in grant funding—capable of providing a lifeline to hundreds of local businesses at risk of shutting down permanently due to the crisis. It will be administered as a streamlined version of the City's Small Business Financing program. Small businesses can begin applying on Monday, April 6.

The City of Boston has also created a Financial Relief Handbook and FAQ document for small businesses. It's a resource for navigating
