According to Trisha Lee, "Diversity is hard."

Trisha Lee, a fictional small town Texas widow, comes to that disarmingly simple insight near the end of a life-changing journey in the Elise Forier Edie drama "The Pink Unicorn"—in a powerful SpeakEasy Stage live streaming premiere. Initially, the title refers to the imaginary mythic figure that seems to light up

Boston dog licensing deadline is March 31

SUBMITTED BY CITY OF BOSTON

Licensing data from 2020 revealed the most popular dog names in Boston

With a current increase in dog adoptions during the COVID-19 quarantine, the Boston Parks and Recreation Department's Animal Care and Control Division is reminding city dog owners that the annual deadline for licensing their pets is March 31. All dogs in Boston require a new license each year.

"A license is your dog's fastest ticket home if they become lost, and it's the law," notes Animal Care and Control Director Alexis Trzcinski. "A dog license is like an ID for your pet. If they ever get lost, the chances of you being reunited are much higher with a license."

mother to a newly understanding one.

As Trisha herself recounts in this one-woman play, she was far from understanding when her child admitted to being "not all girl" but "boy too." When Jo, then starting high school, announced, "I'm gender queer, Ma. I'm pansexual," a kind of Gender 101 became a pre-requisite for parent-child dialogue.

Where Mrs. Lee—nibbling on cookies and drinking tea—previously depended on recipe cards for day-to-day reference, she now turned to Wikipedia and discovered "an infinite variety of gender."

Thanks to Edie's sharp descriptive skills, Trisha's narrative abounds with vivid characters and imagery. Jo has an unusual pet—a tarantulanamed Beetlejuice, "on her shoulder like an epaulet." There is gay student Elijah Breckenridge—who co-founds the Gay and Straight Alliance (GSA).

There is homophobic and transphobic Pastor Dick, who hatefully compares LGBT Christians to Nazis. Trisha's alcoholic brother Junior terms the ACLU "Satan worshippers." Jo's Southern belle grandmother blames the likes of AOC and believes that her daughter is "consorting with demons."

Also look for Trisha's lesbian friend Enid, who "made herself fat" thinking she would be undesirable to men (Audience members are advised that there are fat-phobic images). Rights rally participants include a tattooed protester named Shug and wheelchair activist Dorcas Alexander, an expert at marshalling supporters.

Most of all, Trisha's odyssey persuasively demonstrates how she has moved from a cluelessness that defined gender as "pink and blue" to a reluctant but ultimately embraced activism that saw her ready to "go through Hell" to support Jo's truth—even to the point of incurring death threats and being treated like a pariah.

That support goes as far as endorsing Jo's decision to wear a blazer—reserved for male students in the school dress code—for her yearbook picture. Eventually Trisha realizes that what she calls 'traditional American values' actually includes the principle of equality for all. Ultimately, she reasons, God has given her a pink unicorn, too—one that puts a premium on love, especially for Jo.

Under the strong direction of Bevin O' Gara, Stacy Fischer gives a riveting performance as Trisha. She captures the dramatic change in this once-confused mother and woman as well as her ever-present feeling and essential humanity. "The Pink Unicorn" brings timely light to the expansive diversity that is LGBTQIA.

Edie's provocative 80-minute play is followed by reactions by local LGBTQIA writers, leaders and organizers.

Dog

In preparation for the 2021 licensing deadline, the Animal Care & Control Division analyzed licensing data from last year to reveal the most popular dog names of 2020. The top five dog names registered in Boston were Luna, Bella, Charlie, Lucy, and Lola. Rounding out the bottom of the top 25 were Buddy, Riley, Finn, Coco, and Winston.

All dog owners must license their dogs by Wednesday, March 31, 2021. Dogs must be licensed if they are older than six months. Owners must provide a copy of their dog's current rabies certificate and proof of spaying or neutering. For an in-depth guide on dog licensing, including a link to license your dog online, visit www.boston.gov/departments/animal-care-and-control/how-license-your-dog

The fees for licensing your dog are $15 for a neutered male or spayed female or $30 for an intact male or female. Dog owners who pay online with a credit card will be subject to a 2.7 percent service fee (the minimum service fee is $1.00). License applications may also be picked up in person or requested by mail; walk-in and mailed payments are accepted via check or money order.

Due to the ongoing COVID-19 health emergency, Animal Care and Control office hours are limited; please contact the office ahead of your visit. Whether you provide your information and payment online, by mail, or in person, your dog's license will be mailed to you.

If you are renewing a dog license, you will need to provide your dog's license number. The dog licensing fee is waived for service animals and residents age 70 and older. Owners must also pay any outstanding Animal Care and Control fines. The fine for an unlicensed dog is $50. Please call (617) 635-534 or email animalcontrol@boston.gov with any questions about the licensing process or to update your information in the database.

Denny S. Bryce: WILD WOMEN AND THE BLUES

Come join SEW as it hosts Denny Bryce discussing her debut novel, WILD WOMEN AND THE BLUES, due out this spring. Jazz-age Chicago comes to vibrant life in this evocative work of historical fiction that links the stories of an ambitious chorus girl and a modern-day film student, both coming to grips with loss, forgiveness, and the limitations—and surprises—of love.

Bryce's background is in professional marketing. She spent 20 years running an event marketing firm, during the last 10 of which she also wrote and read Buffy/Spike fan fiction. A devoted fan of Buffy the Vampire Slayer, Firefly, and Angel (the TV series), she is also a classic film buff and loves genre TV.

Street Sweeping has begun in the South End

Street sweeping began on Monday, March 1 in the North End, South End, and Beacon Hill, and will resume citywide on April 1. Street sweeping ticketing enforcement will also resume on those dates respectively, and vehicles in violation will be subject to towing.

Mayor Martin J. Walsh, the Boston Transportation Department (BTD) and the Public Works Department announced updated street enforcement regulations for the City of Boston.

Street sweeping ticketing enforcement will also resume on those dates respectively, and vehicles in violation will be subject to towing. Additionally, the Boston Transportation Department will resume ticketing enforcement for expired inspection stickers and vehicle registration on March 1. Mayor Walsh paused enforcement of certain violations at the beginning of the pandemic in an effort to ensure residents could minimize their need to go out to slow the spread of COVID-19.

“With spring approaching, we are asking residents to move their vehicles during posted street sweeping times to ensure our Public Works Department is able to fully clean streets citywide,” said Mayor Walsh. “Thank you to all of our residents for your continued cooperation to keep our streets clean.”

Failure to move a vehicle during posted street sweeping hours results in a $40 fine; the fine is $90 in Charlestown, and $90 for overnight street sweeping. An expired inspection sticker or vehicle registration will result in a $40 fine. View a complete list of parking codes and fines in the City of Boston. To learn more about the daytime and nighttime street sweeping program, including when the Public Works Department cleans a particular neighborhood, you can sign up for street sweeping alerts and No-Tow reminder service.

As a reminder, residents with resident parking permits will continue to be allowed to park at meters within their neighborhood without having to abide by the time limits or pay the meter.

“Clean streets are an important quality of life issue for our residents,” said Commissioner Greg Rooney. “We appreciate the public’s assistance as we resume this essential basic city service.”

- Text BOSFrancais for French
- Text BOSKriolu for Cabo Verdean Creole
- Text BOSPortugues for Portuguese

Updates in 10 total languages can additionally be accessed through boston.gov/coronavirus#multilingual-help. Each language has its own page and hosts multilingual print materials distributed citywide.

HOMELESS SERVICES AND HOSPITAL CAPACITY

On April 2nd, Mayor Walsh announced that construction begins at the Boston Convention and Exhibition Center to add 500 beds for treating homeless adults who have tested positive for COVID-19 and need care, but do not require full hospitalization.

The City has released a Request for Proposals to secure a partner organization to operate the facility. If necessary, the Convention Center beds will be opened up for hospitals to use for sub-acute COVID patients in the general population.

These 500 beds will bring Boston's total number of new beds for homeless individuals to over 1,000. This includes Boston Medical Center's Newton Pavilion facility, which the City and State are working to re-purpose as a medical facility for homeless residents affected by the coronavirus.
